

| CODE | TITLE | CREDITS | GPS | CAMERA [FILE SIZE IN MEGAPIXELS] {MAX PHOTO SIZE IN INCHES} |
|-----------------------------|---|----------------|---------------------------------------|---|
| IS DISC LSHS PAN | PANORAMA TAKEN FROM LEFT HORN SCREENING HILL | © ZULU ODYSSEY | GPS 28°20' 54.6769"S 30°44' 34.3000"E | NIKON D850 [99 MP] {657" x 29} |
| IS DISC LSHS PAN AN ORIG AN | " " " " ANNOTATED | © ZULU ODYSSEY | GPS 28°20' 54.6769"S 30°44' 34.3000"E | NIKON D850 [129 MP] {657" x 38} |
| IS DISC LSHS PAN DURNFORD | PANORAMA TAKEN FROM LEFT HORN SCREENING HILL SHOWING COLONEL DURNFORD'S MOVEMENTS | © ZULU ODYSSEY | GPS 28°20' 54.6769"S 30°44' 34.3000"E | NIKON D850 [146 MP] {657" x 43} |
| | | | | |
| | | | | |
| | | | | |
| | | | | |

BIZANANI HILL

IS DISC LSHS PAN DURNFORD This Panorama shows you the movements of Colonel Durnford as he collided with the uVe regiment as Colonel Durnford approached the valley Lieutenant Scott who was in command of the pickets, was stationed on Amatushane. Lets go to Lieutenant Davies who was one of Colonel Durnfords troop commanders who describe the events as they are entering the Qwabi valley " We then proceeded round the pointed hill on the left front of the camp, and were about two miles beyond the ridge on the left front of the camp { we could not see the camp } and very near another ridge that you cannot see at all from the camp, this would make us about three and half miles from the camp. We were then overtaken by 2 Carbineers, who had been sent with a message from Lieutenant Scott, of the native contingent, who was on picquet duty on the pointed hill to the left front of the camp. The message was to the effect that we had better return as the enemy were fast surrounding us. Colonel Durnford remarked, " The enemy can't surround us, and if they do, we will cut through them." [1]

You will notice it was the uVe regiment who chased Colonel Durnford's force but the iNgobamakosi regiment used a different route, one thing for certain they streamed down the notch and followed Colonel Durnford to his final Donga. I have placed the uVe regiment at the time of the discovery somewhere between Nyezi Hill (which is the directly behind the location this Panorama was taken) and the Ngwebeni Valley most likely the iNgobamakosi regiment was with them or very close by, one thing for certain all the approaches to the valley would have been covered by screens and a large enough impi would be close by to chase of any British incurson. The route shown on this Panorama is the most likely route the iNgobamakosi regiment taken

[1] Statement of Lieutenant H. D. Davies, commanding Edendale troop Natal Mounted Contingent. February 1879. National Archives (Witnesses of Isandlwana page 299 -304)